

MEHLMAN CASTAGNETTI — ROSEN & THOMAS —

Christina Radio is a policy analyst at Mehlman Castagnetti Rosen & Thomas. In this role, she monitors Congressional activity, conducts research, and analyzes legislation and proposed regulations.

A veteran member of the firm, Christina served from 2011 to 2015 as a legislative assistant at Mehlman Castagnetti, during which time she provided daily administrative support to multiple staff members. In this role, she was also the lead coordinator for one of the firm's clients' annual meeting in Washington, DC.

Prior to her time at Mehlman Castagnetti, Christina was selected to provide on-site contract support to the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) National Exercise Division (NED). During this time, her primary responsibilities included content development and management of logistics for monthly NED-sponsored exercise planning meetings involving senior leadership members from FEMA, the Department of Homeland Security, and the interagency.

Christina graduated magna cum laude from Radford University. She lives in Arlington, Virginia with her husband.

CHRISTINA RADIO
Policy Analyst

EDUCATION

B.S. - Radford University